

There was something mysterious in the air that morning. Nothing was done in its regular order and several of the native servants seemed missing, while those whom Mary saw slunk or hurried about with ashy and scared faces. But no one would tell her anything and her Ayah did not come.

Making Inferences

It Says... (What the text says)	I Say... (My thoughts)	So... (Inference)
There was something mysterious in the air that morning. Nothing was done in its regular order and several of the native servants seemed missing, while those whom Mary saw slunk or hurried about with ashy and scared faces. But no one would tell her anything and her Ayah did not come.	Based on the evidence from the text, there is a sense or feeling that something is wrong. It began when her Ayah didn't show up. Several of the other servants were missing as well. They all appeared to be nervous and terribly frightened and no one would tell Mary what had happened.	A logical conclusion is that her feeling of dread foreshadows the significant changes that will shape her life due to the cholera outbreak and the death of her parent's and her Ayah.

